Without Limits ~ You Can Do It!

If there is one thing that distinguishes Scona from other schools, it is the fresh, enthusiastic, sense of pride we exude! The institute of Strathcona Composite High reflects a colourful mosaic of character, accomplishment and service that continues to grow as the years come and go. During the years spent at Scona, one cultivates a multitude of bonds with the student and staff. It is through these relations that we learn about ourselves, others, and most importantly the world surrounding us. It is without a doubt that the school of Scona provides an environment of which with hard work, dedication and an overall positive outlook, anything lies within reach!

Right: A group of girls chat in the office.

Top: S-C-O-N-A! Fans bare all as they show the football team some encouragement.

Right: Steven Kallir, Jordon Crone, Carl Swansan, and Natasha Wayne strike a pose to attract potential candidates at the Club fair.

Bottom left: The Cross Country Captains inform the rest of the school of what's to come in cross country.

Below: Lundy Prokopetz concentrates as she works on her artful masterpiece.

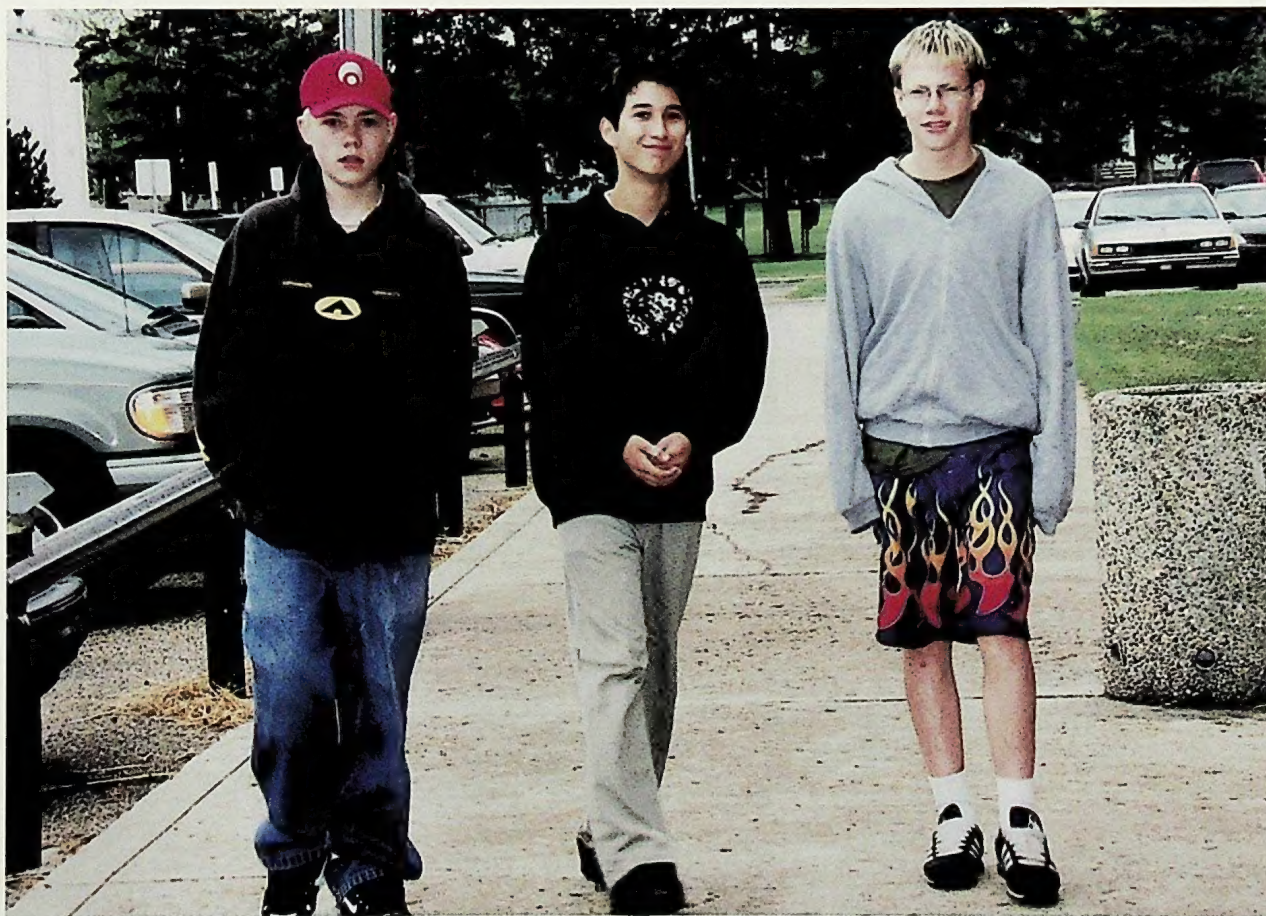

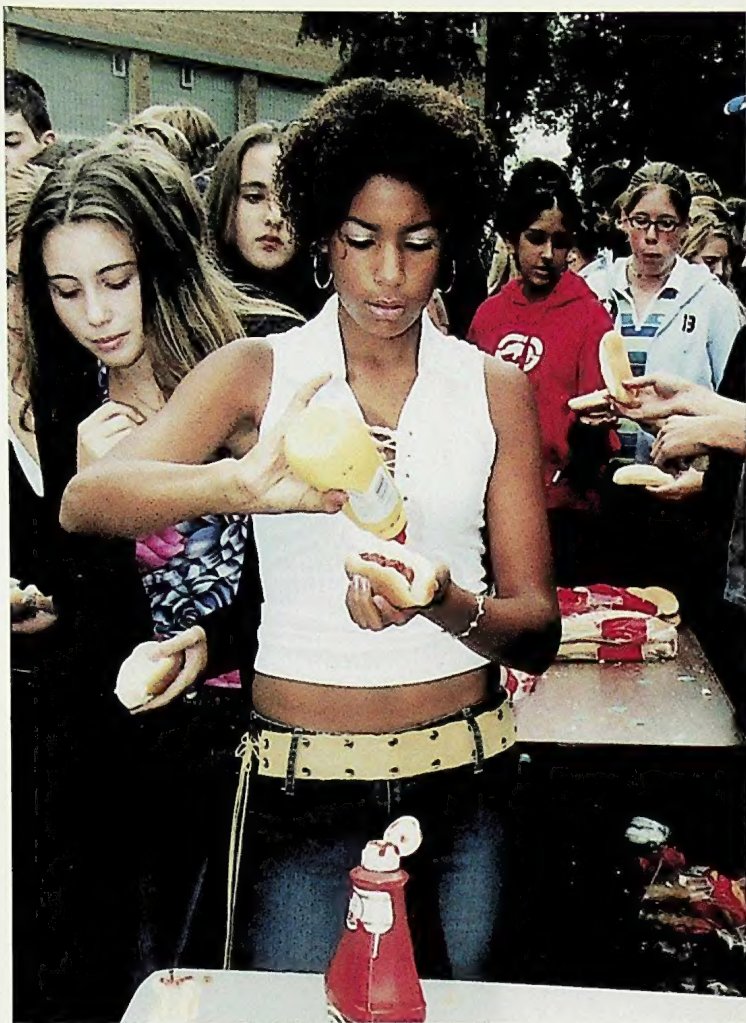

Grade Ten ~ Where it All Starts

Grade ten is considered to stepping stone for the future. It may be frightening and different to be in a new environment. Yet, once you learn the ropes everything becomes oh so easy! Grade ten is the time where everyone finds themselves and define who they are and who they can become. As they await the future they can enjoy all of the joyful experiences of the present. Grade ten is the beginning of a long wonderful meaningful journey that maps the roads of high school.

Grade Eleven ~ The Middle Year

Grade eleven is the cream part of the oreo cookie. Knowing that they are in the middle, they don't have to worry about getting use to a new school or looking towards the future. They are in a place of comfort. This year's grade Elevens are all different but fit perfectly in the mosaic that makes Strathcona Composite High school. They have many things to look forward to but they also have their grade ten memories to sustain them as well. In Grade eleven they discover their boundaries and limits. Yet, most importantly they learn how to have FUN!

Starting top left going clockwise: A group of grade eleven students pose as they have fun building ginger bread houses for German Class. Jordan Crone MC's at the welcome week assembly for grade tens. Lisa Sawchuck rocks the house as DJ at the school dance.

Grade Twelve ~ The Last Chapter

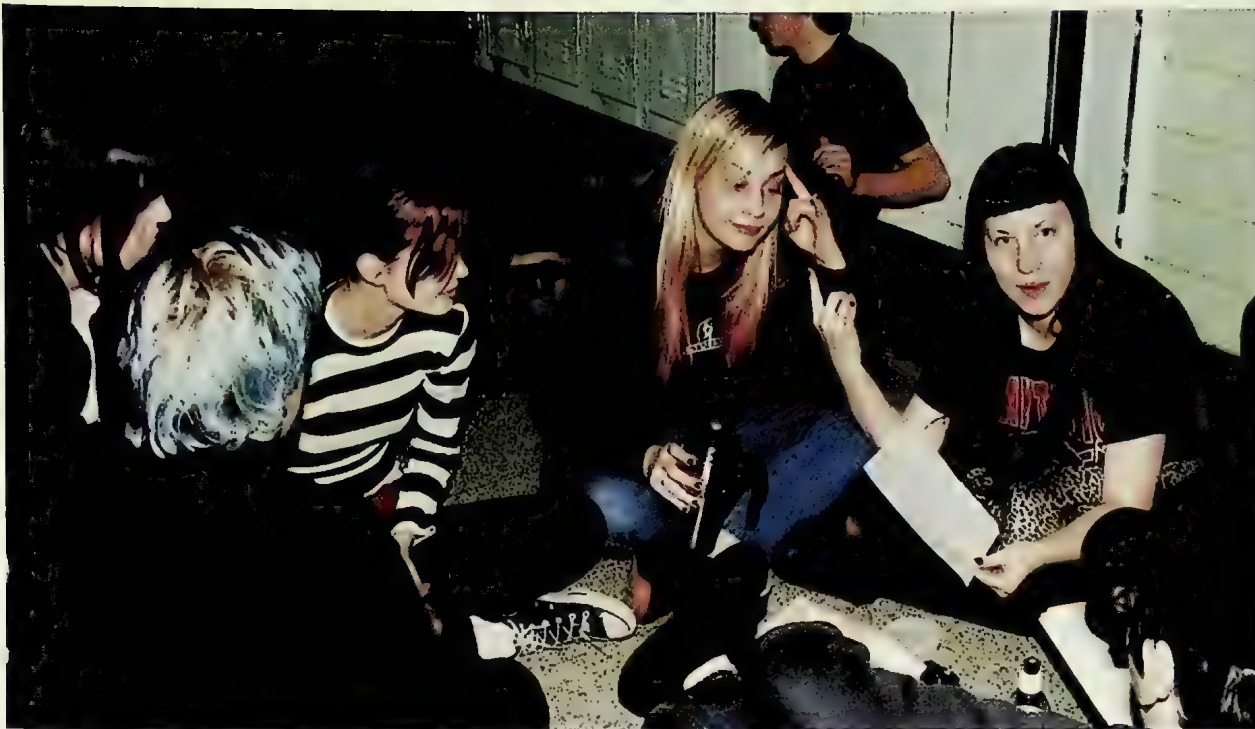

As the class of 2003, this is our last year. This is the stepping stone leading us into the "real world" and our new lives. And it is also a chance to look back fondly upon the past years. Now we can cherish our new friendships and the new experiences that we have had over these 2 years as Lords. Here to us falls the challenge of upholding the Scona traditions-the pride, achievements, and most of all, courage. We have taken up the mantle of responsibility of leadership in many things-yearbook, grad president, S.U. president, etc. And this is our chance to show everyone that again the seniors are up to the challenge. Along with the duties we have, we will get the chance to make this year our very best so that the memories will live on, in us and in the school. This year is our year; the future is ours for the taking, and there is no limit to what we can achieve. This is our time to uphold the legacy of the past years, and to create our own legacy as the Lords of 2003.

Bottom right: The London Disturbance Force (Chrissy Cassady, Karlin Prokopetz, Erin Macnab, and Jessica Cassady) rock a full house at the Christmas LIT.

Pep Rally ~ Hear The Lions Roar

S-C, S-C-O, S-C-O-N-A, Let's go! As the gymnasium fills with students and staff, upbeat music is played and an undoubtedly enthused crowd is very prevalent. More often than not, the Pep Rally is one of the most anticipated events of the year, of course next to the Christmas LIT! The lights dim, the music fades and the MC's of this year's rally appear on the stage. After exchanging corny yet humorous lines, the teams are announced and the real fun begins. As always, our outstanding, accomplished teams receive their time and recognition in the spotlight, and some even provided the audience with great shock value. Last but absolutely not least, the famed Scona Lords Football Team is announced and a video of their outstanding achievement is shown. The assembly wraps up, and students leave with a feeling of pride and enthusiasm!

Top right: Mark Harbora and Danielle Dubeta introduce the 2002-2003 swim team with a huge splash.

Above: As swim members bring out the swim banner, they may look like fish out of the water but our swim team can roar louder than lions.

Middle Right: Gaylord peps everyone for the pep rally.

Oktoberfest ~ German Fun Time

The third annual Oktoberfest, a celebration of the German tradition, was held outside the Michener entrance on a chilly autumn day. Although the weather was dreary, it failed to dampen the spirits of the participants gathered outside. Participants waited outside eagerly to begin their quest to conquer the crown and become either the Queen or King of Oktoberfest. Contestants were judged on their yodeling abilities as well as their juice-gulping abilities. Competition was fierce but there was only room for two winners. At the end of the festivities, prizes were awarded and the King and Queen of Oktoberfest were crowned to resounding cheers.

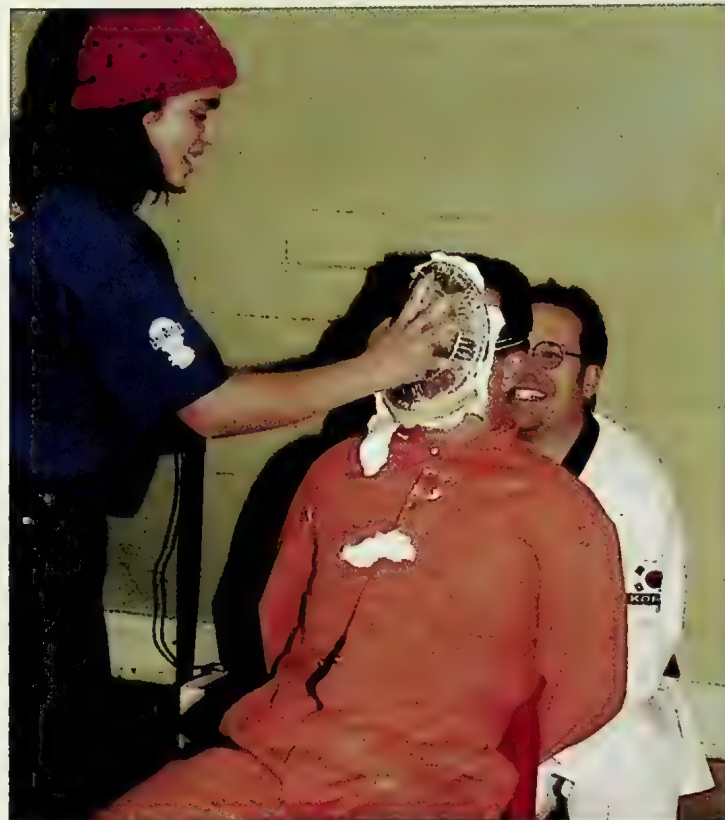

Top: Nathan Winski-Holmes, his friend, and Peter Wagner are ready and determined to compete for the crown.

Bottom Right: Mr Brinkman times Kaylee Waniandy as she chugs her way through a bottle of orange juice.

Halloween ~ Doing it Scona Style

It is through the fun filled affairs such as Halloween that Scona students display tremendous character, both figuratively and literally! So it was no surprise when a dynamic variety of personas and costumes loomed through the halls on the day of All Hallows Eve. During the lunch period, activities such as donut eating, pumpkin bowling, and costume contests took place in the transformed small gym. Once again, a few motivated students urged their peer to donate to UNICEF, a charity of which Scona has been involved with for a number of years.

Top Right: Mr P. gets a face full of pie due to student demand as he won the contest for "pie your teacher".

Christmas LIT (Lacking In Talent)

If there is one popular event that lies within a category all of its own, it would absolutely be the Christmas LIT. Over the years, students step up to the challenge and prepare an act for the enjoyment of their peers and teachers. Whether it is a rock band, dance act, singing performance, comic relief, or even a collaborated group of teachers, the student body of Scona is overwhelmingly entertained with a variety of talented, humorous, and even uplifting performances. During times such as this, the true spirit of Scona is displayed and expressed through unique artists!

Western Days

An annual event that regularly provides students with a great deal of fun and entertainment is Western Days. The day started off with juice and donuts for breakfast, to keep spirits high in anticipation of the dance at lunch. The people came dressed in various types of western wear and everyone had a blast during the line-dancing competition at lunch. The day was filled with surprises, such as the garbage fire just prior to the breakfast, but it was also full of constants such as Mr. Parasynchuk sporting his regular classy duds. All in all, Western Days continues to be a great day. And it provides the opportunity to finally use all those wonderful Social Dance moves.

UN Debate

Lately, we've all been hearing a great deal about the United Nations. But, where they aren't a large fixture in people's minds normally, at Scona the UN plays a large role in students' lives, since once in their three years they have to choose a country and pick positions on which to defend that country. The United Nations debate occurs twice a year, with students from the Grade Eleven and Grade Ten AP Social programs getting dressed up and gather together exchange opinions and dabate about issues that currently affect the world. The exercise is beneficial, since it provides students with an opportunity to examine issues that occur it the world today, and this is especially useful due to the events that have occurred in recent months.

International Week

Scona is composed of many unique individuals, and this week was proof of the plentiful and diverse backgrounds that exist within our school. Scona Pride was in charge of the Coffee House, and Students Union looked after the International Food Fair. Even though there was a lack of support from local restaurants, the contributions from students turned the affair into a well-received event. If there is one universal item that attracts people, food would surely be it.

Year Play

Mrs. Blanchard deserves a pat on the back for another spectacular year play. David and Lisa, which was directed by Mrs. Blanchard herself, stage managed by Kyla Macdonald and starred Dan Huntley and Tarra Wandler, led a Scona audience into a mental institution where unfolded the profound story of two troubled youth: David, an obsessive-compulsive teenage boy with a paranoia about being touched, and Lisa, a schizophrenic young girl with a split personality, Muriel, who speaks only in rhyme. Guided by Doctor Allan Swindford (played by Quinn McCashin) the two struggle independently to overcome their issues while living amongst peers who share problems of their own. In the end, the two find love and healing in friendship. This heartwarming story was well deserving of the standing ovation it received!

One Acts

As their final project, every year the Drama 30s put on a festival of one act plays. Auditions open up to the entire school, and the aspiring directors take their pick of actors. Practice begins far in advance, but the last two weeks before the performances are always a mad rush to get ready. Somehow things always work out in the end; if they don't entirely, then the actors smooth over any mistakes during the play. Anyone who saw the plays knows the incredible talent Strathcona students have! After all the hard work invested in the One Acts by directors, stage managers, actors, and even the lighting crew, it all finishes abruptly in one single week. But though the plays may be over, everyone connected with them still has lines bouncing around in their head. And most of the scripts still lie in the Drama room's big collection of scripts, inevitably to be performed again in another year's festival by future Scona students.

Remembrance Day

As we stand, listening to the Last Post echo around the room, we pause to reflect on the years past. As symbols before us stood twenty veterans, reminding us of the sacrifices that they made all those years ago. Poems like "The Poppy" and "In Flanders Fields" tell us stories of life on the battlefields. They give us pause because of their message - a call to remember and honor both the living and the dead. Those who join us and those who cannot paint a picture of the loyalty that those boys gave to their country. The veterans themselves tell us a story of hope, courage, and honor. The very sight of them, proudly standing to praise their dead and living comrades gives us all something to cling to.

They are true heroes. And this, we shall not forget.

Clockwise from top: Walter Kaasa makes a speech to students; Mr. Stollery and Mr. McCannell smile for the camera after the Remembrance Day Ceremony; Elliot Pittman, Erin Jessup and Kyla Macdonald listen with great interest to an honoured guest; Sarah Flesher smiles with a veteran.

Cross Country

Another year, and another AMAZING cross-country season. The Strathcona Lords raced their way to another city championship in Cross Country Running. Under Coach Harle's watchful eye and led by one of the best group of captains around, nearly one hundred dedicated (and somewhat crazy) athletes braved hail, sleet and even a little snow as they practiced afterschool, day in and day out. Thankfully, the hard work paid off; everyone had a great time at the team barbeque, and the weather cooperated very nicely for Scona's fantastic finish at cities and great show at provincials. Congratulations to all the athletes!

Football

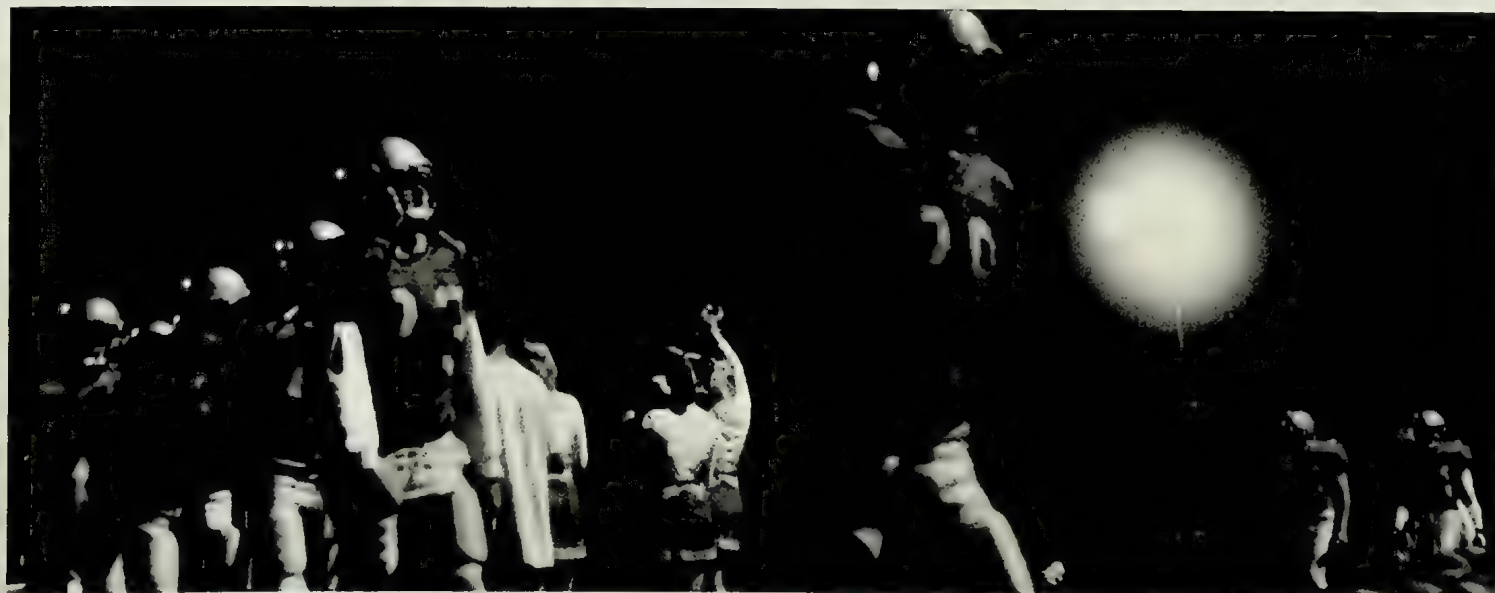

The Scona Lords football team has been undefeated in the regular season for three consecutive years! This year they defeated Jasper Place in the City Final and went on to qualify for the Provincial Championship Final, where they lost by only three points to Bev Facey from Sherwood Park. The team looks forward to another successful year in 2003-2004. Excellent job, Lords! HUT HUT HOORAY!!!

Cheer Team

S-C, S-C-O, S-C-O-N-A, let's go! Go Scona!!! This year's cheer team consisted of both old and new members. Nevertheless, the one thing that they all had in common was their drive, dedication, and determination. These girls exuded endless energy, and their tireless efforts definitely need to be acknowledged and applauded! They roughed and toughed through all the cold winter football games, and unlike the football players, their attire was, well...much lighter!

Swim

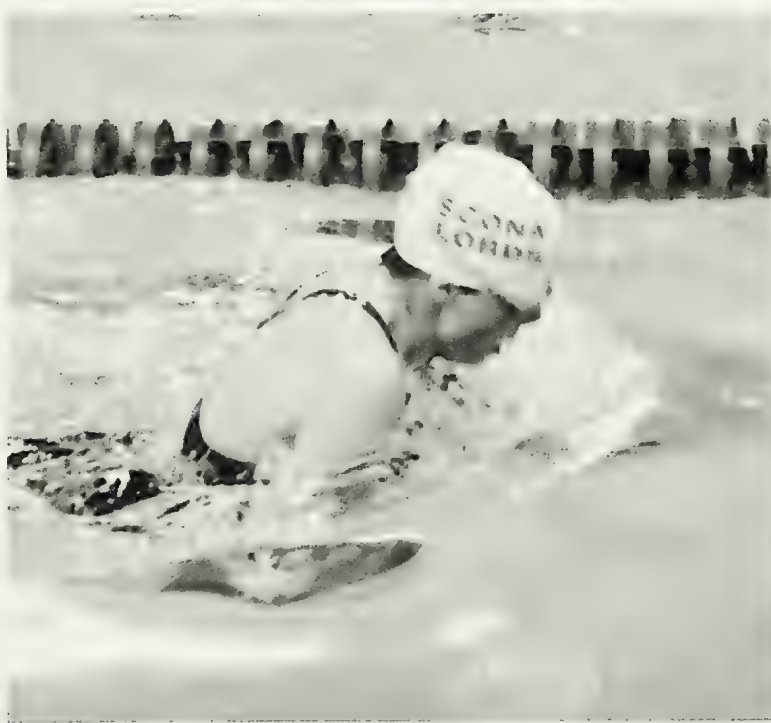

After a week of recruiting rookies for this season, the Scona Lords swim team took to the pool again this fall in pursuit of another City Championship. Whether at early morning or after school practices, our Lords swam diligently and gave it their all in preparation for the weekly Friday time trial meets. As usual, the competition from the other schools was fierce, but the size, strength and determination of the Scona swim team dwarfed them all. After six time trials, the Scona Lords swim team was ready to take on the rest of the city at the annual City Swimming Championships held at the Kinsmen Sport Center. After all their hard work and relentless efforts, it was no surprise that the Lords upheld one of the many sports traditions from Scona and carried off the first place overall trophy for the seventeenth year in a row. Go Lords Go!!

Volleyball

It was a great season for the Volleyball teams this year. With the coaching of Mr. Lu and Mr. Carter, the Senior Women 'spiked' their way into winning the gold medal set against M.E. Lazerte at the Ardrossan Lady Bison Tournament. The season was full of strong competition and the Senior Women worked hard. Finishing the year, they lost to McNally in quarterfinals in the Premier League. This year was an exciting season for the Junior Women's team. Head Coach Diana Stapor, a former Lord, propelled the team to city finals. They won the City Conference Championship in three sets over Victoria Composite. The Senior Men's volleyball team also had a great season. Head Coach Mr. Rolph, and team advanced to the semi-finals in the Premier Division. This year proved to be the Senior Men's best performance in three years. The Junior Men's Volleyball year was filled with a strong effort and much hard work. Coach MacGregor did a great job in preparing the team for the season. After a very close match in the semi-finals, the Lords finished third in the Premier Division. Congratulations to all teams and good luck next year.

Basketball

The strong winning traditions of Strathcona basketball continued during the year 2002 and 2003. Scona Basketball was very successful. All four teams put an extraordinary effort into their respective seasons. There were, however, a few outstanding events. The annual Scona Classic tournament was very much a success. It had many exciting games and was capped off by both the Scona Senior Girls and the Senior Boys winning the tournament. Also, the Senior Girls and Senior Guys travelled to San Diego to play against the best teams from the South. All of the players learned a great deal from the experience and also had a great time. Both the Senior teams made it to the quarter-finals, but although the seasons were cut short it was a very enjoyable year. The whole year would have not be made possible without the continuous efforts of Tim Martins (Senior Boys coach) and Hien Lu (Senior Girls coach). Not only did they organize a memorable season for all the players but also helped with the development of each individual. The 2002-03 Scona Basketball season was definitely a season to remember!

Curling

It's that time of year again when everyone breaks out their brooms and sweeps for all their worth - even the guys. All through the rink shouts of "Whoa!" and "Hurry hard!" resound as Scona Lords hurl 42-pound rocks down sheets of ice to get them into the house. No, they're not crazy - it's the curling season! With Mr. Kulka's ever-present support and the talent of our Lords, the curling team toured the city playing in numerous bonspiels, and had plenty of fun doing it. Scona curling rocks!

Soccer

The Soccer team consisted of both a women's team and a men's team. Both teams started practicing in the spring. The practices consisted of running, drills that helped them with offensive and defensive moves, and practice games that would prepare them for the real thing. The things that helped them with their games were the Scona fan support, the great team support and of course, the competition. They had a successful season that was well deserved.

Rowing Crew

The Scona Lords 'row row rowed their boats' to victory this 2003 season. Through early mornings and grueling workouts, the Scona rowing team showed that dedication and hard work does not go without reward. This season the rowing teams captured the Competitive Women's and Semi-Competitive Men's Gold medals, as well as a Silver medal in the Semi-Competitive Women's event. Not to forget the indoor rowing season, where Scona swept the Men's, Women's and Mixed categories! Hours of pulling on the rowing machines and sleepy mornings on the river were no match for those rowers who'll remember the regatta, the dirty North Saskatchewan, the thrill of victory, and the time Gerry Heacock fell out of the boat!

Track

Keeping the proud Scona tradition alive involves none other than winning - and the Scona track team certainly achieve that this year by claiming the City Championships for the thirty-second year in a row! Every year the Track team gives everyone an opportunity to showcase their talents at various track and field events. Some of the annual event favorites are sprinting, javelin, long distance running, pole vault and hurdles. The Track team did exceptionally well this year in all events and all of Scona is proud of our athletes for their accomplishments!

Fans

As we enter another year that promises to be great for Scona sports, we have to wonder exactly what role the fans have. Through the horrid cold, numerous deafening cheers of "S-C-I, S-C-O-I, S-C-O-N-A Let's Go!" rise and spur our teams to victory. Truly, Scona fans are something else.

Fans perpetually give Strathcona's many teams (football, cross-country running, volleyball, basketball, swim, and soccer, among others) the support needed to triumph. Their unrivalled enthusiasm and commitment make them models for great fans everywhere.

Top: It's the annual pep rally!! Students from all three grades gather here at the gymnasium to check out this year's many sports teams. Middle left: Girls cheer on the Scona cheerleaders at the pep rally. Middle right: Grade Ten students are on the edge of their seats watching an exciting basketball game during the Scona Classic Basketball Tournament. Bottom: Cara Ellis and her friends scream their hearts out in support of their fellow teammates on the soccer team.

Academics

Bottom right: Kyra Whale adds the finishing touches to her art project.

English

"The most memorable book and lesson was the Shakespeare unit. I used to watch the movie when I was younger and not understand, but taking time and going through the language makes it much more enjoyable."

-Jill Cunningham, grade 10

"Other than learning about Shakespeare, English, I have to say, is kind of interesting."

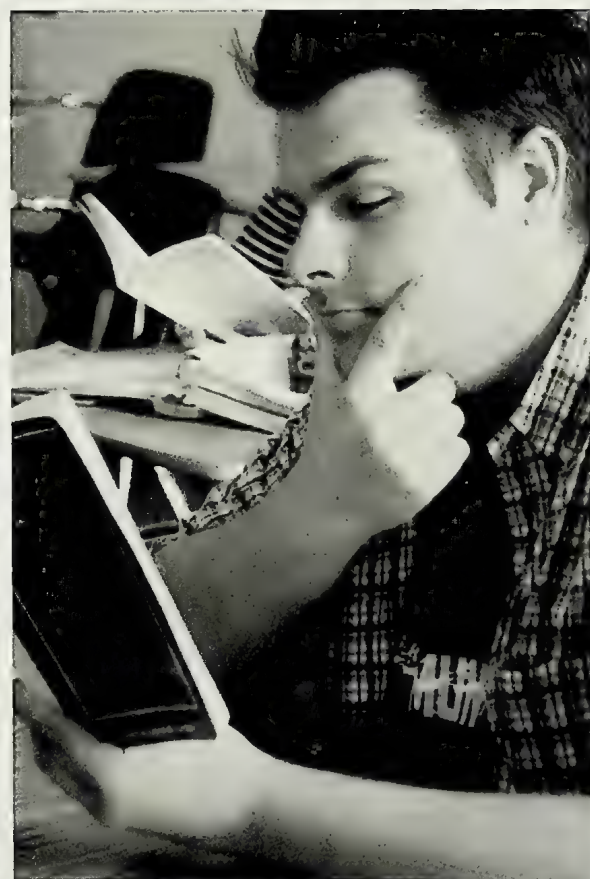

-Brent Lopatka, grade 11

"From Oedipus Rex with mothers and sons, to Hamlet with suicidal characters, to people changing into dung beetles in Metamorphosis, the reading this year was definitely a stretch!"

-Hannah Reid, grade 12

"Me like English. It good is."

-Darin Gette, grade 12

Social

"It was interesting learning about Canada's involvement in various wars."

-Leif Welz, grade 10

"The UN debate was a blast to participate in. It made social more enjoyable."

-Amanda Ruscheusly, grade 11

"From Sunny and Cher to arms and drivers, social has been one of those classes that actually talked about things we could apply to our life right now."

-Dimple Brar, grade 12

Mathematics

"Scona's math program is excellent, as reflected in the high achievement. I have really enjoyed math here, and although I normally find the material boring, the teachers help to both interest me and challenge me with it."

-Kathryn Smith, grade 11

"Calculus. . .the stuff dreams are made of!"

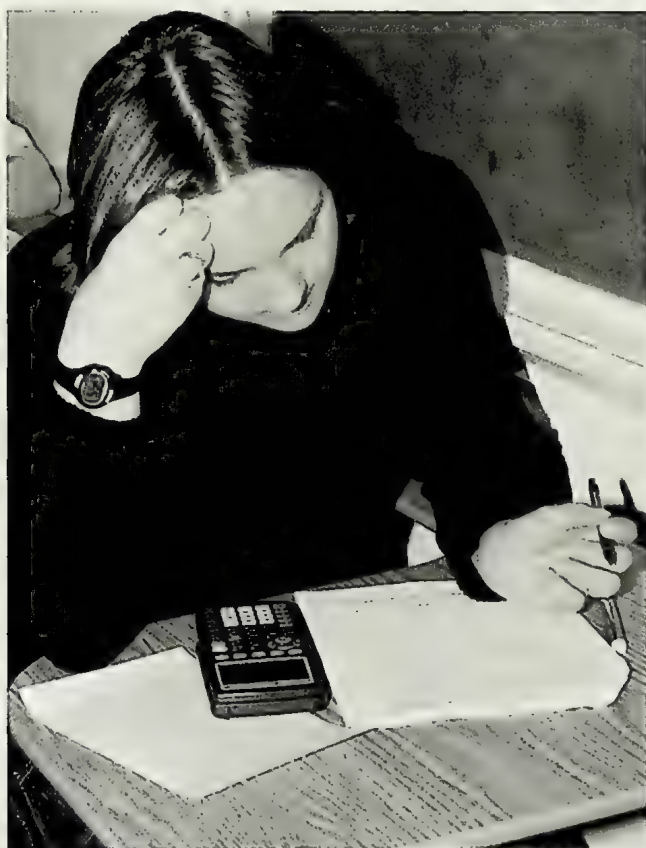

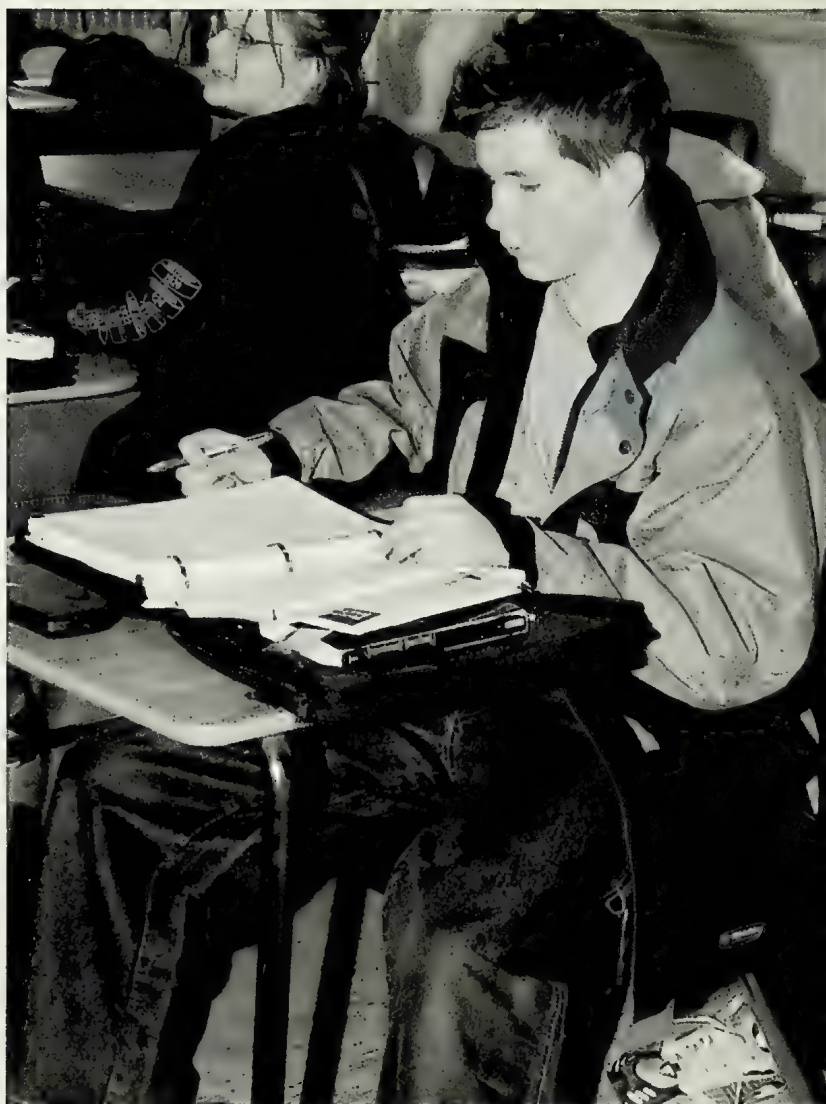

-Anonymous, grade 12

"We teach you to think...nothing more."

-Anonymous, grade 12

"Exponentiallogarithmictrinegative doo-hickey! Yes, I could say I have expanded my knowledge of math. . .heh, heh, heh."

-Ryan Heinrichs, grade 12

Science

"You get to dissect HUGE frogs and LONG worms."

-Sarah Bainbridge, grade 10

"These three courses help us to understand the world around us. Bio helps us understand ourselves and our evolution. Chem helps us make fireworks and explosives."

-Abey Laby, grade 12

"These courses were depressing. I found out my emotions are nothing more than nerve impulses and my sole purpose in life is cellular respiration."

-Darin Gette, grade 12

"Disastrous chem labs made the class more fun and gave the course a dangerous feel!"

-Hannah Reid, grade 12

Art

"You go into art expecting an easy teacher with easy grades. All of you who think that way ought to be shot!"

-Kayla Christiansen, grade 10

"It's my favorite class here. You get a lot of experience in art."

-Lyndsey Peters, grade 11

"Amazing atmosphere. I can never figure out why people skip a class like art when it's better than almost anything else you could do."

-Dashiell Brasen, grade 11

Drama

"Scona's drama teacher's really cool! There's no one better at other schools! She looks crazy, but that's not true, Except if you're late, then she'll kill you!"

-Kayla Christiansen, grade 10

"Drama was fun! I loved doing the one-acts and our final exam collective is gonna be good!"

-Morgan Demers, grade 10

"The famous Mrs. Blanchard: 'I want ENERGY, VOLUME and ENTHUSIASM!'"

-Gavin Stickle, grade 10

Top: The grade twelve drama class gets together for a group picture. Middle: Steven Brese and Jill Hamilton sign that they love you all! Bottom: Kate Toogood, Erin Jessup, and Kyla Macdonald paint their names on the set so that they will always be remembered.

Elective Courses

"Spanish, with Mr. Hernandez, was so great. He made Spanish more interesting than it is. It's a great country and language."

-Christina Jolin, grade 10

"I'll never forget the intoxicating smell of the [photo] developer, fixer and solvent."

-Kelly Kimak, grade 10

"Thanks to Mrs. Gargas and her great teaching, I know I want to be an accountant."

-Hillary Foster, grade 10

"I didn't know Criminal Law 30 watched more movies than film studies! Good times."

-Ryan Heinrichs, grade 12

"Computer Technologies 20 was a good course to take. I know I'll use this when I'm older."

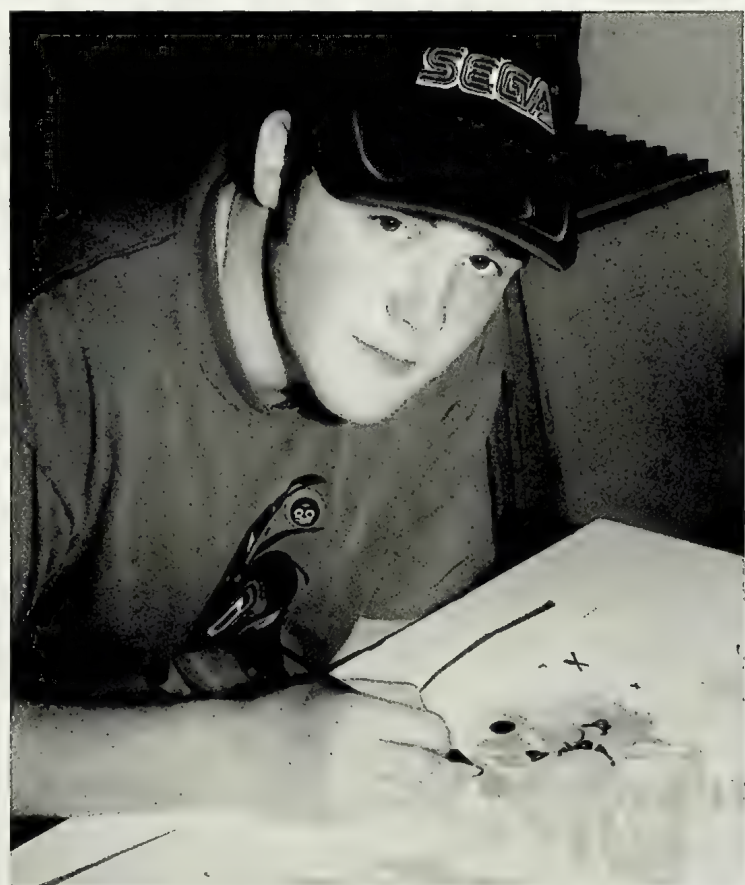

-Steven Ferguson, grade 11

"Thanks for letting us watch movies, Herr Brinkman."

-Leif Welz, grade 10

"Hier wird Deutsch gesprochen!" ("German only!")

-Vicki Seutter, grade 11

Music

This year brought a few changes to the Music program. Since Mr. Klause left last year to go back to school, we gained Mr. Paul Padberg as our new director. With the diligence of the students in the program, and the unceasing optimism and effort of Mr. Padberg, we came out with excellent bands again this year. As part of the year both the Senior and Junior Concert bands attended the Red Deer Music Festival, with the Seniors receiving the Superior Level IV Band plaque and the Juniors receiving the Excellent Plus Level III Band plaque. As well, the bands triumphed this year, with stunning performances at both their Winter and Year-End concerts with a medley of fun, stirring and rocking pieces. The Brass Quintet and Jazz band showed their talents at the concerts as well, with amazing songs and a first for the Jazz crew – vocalist Angela Tran. Altogether, the Music students this year showed their awesome talent as well as their dedication to the program.

Physical Education

"...a lot of work, but a lot of fun."
-Joshua Sos, grade 10

"Swimming was the best."
-Cathy Grudniski, grade 10

"The camping trip was so fun, and I made so many high school memories."
-Rebecca Ellis, grade 12

"What can I say? It was Phys Ed. I mean, seriously."
-Philip Wright-Lindl, grade 12

Students Union

Students Union members contribute great efforts and many hours to providing the students at Scona with a colorful array of spirit-boosting events and activities. It is this group of dynamic individuals that create and make happen the many opportunities for students to express their true colors! Students Union represents involvement, service, dedication, and a commitment to pursuing Scona's endless potential!

Yearbook

Yearbook has been a lot of work and a lot of time slaving over a computer and getting pictures together of people that most of us did not know. The overall product was a book that could remind all of us what a great year this year was. Pictures are the doorways to the past, and a yearbook is just a sliver of a 2003 Scona Lord's past. This book was hard work, but it was worth it. The group met whenever they could to do all that they could to get this yearbook together. With the help from Mr. Watson, Mr. Gerun, Mrs. Gerun and lots of other people we made this book for you. So enjoy!

Grad Committee

The Grad committee started off with the elections that ended with Fiona Mackenzie becoming the Grad president. The rest of the year was hard work for them. They had to toil and work in order to make that one night a memorable night that all would enjoy. They had to worry about the food, the entertainment, the decoration and so much more. Countless lunch hours were put into making Grad 2003 a huge success. And they did just that. The night entailed a good time with live music, great speakers, good food and awesome decorations. At the end of the night, everyone knew that the work they put in was worth it.

Band Camp

Along with a trip to Red Deer, the Senior and Junior bands attended band camp this year. The Senior band camp was held at Camp He-Ho-Ha, and was an absolute blast. With lots to do in between the practices, such as swimming and mini-golf, everyone had an amazing time. And as well as having fun, the Senior band got lots of time to practice, both as a band and with their instrument sections.

All in all, Senior Band Camp was definitely a time to remember – as our band director would know. Not only did he get time to perfect his band, he also got a taste of the high school life. Between catching the grade eleven boys moving their beds outside the dorms, finding a grade eleven rolled up in a cot in his room and getting his sheets stolen by the grade twelve guys, Mr. Padberg will almost certainly note this as something to do every year.

Radio Club

Every morning and lunch hour, the sweet strains of music began to flow from the speakers and gave Scona students an opportunity to experience the eclectic tastes of the members of Radio Club. Whether it was classical, pop, rock or even reggae, these dedicated students gave Scona a chance to hear all sorts of music.

Scona Pride

As a well-known club both within the school and in the community, the members of Scona Pride have once again demonstrated their generosity and willingness to serve others, both in and out of the school. This year, the students and staff involved in this club have accomplished many things: a clothing fundraiser for the Youth Emergency Shelter, a week-long melanoma awareness campaign, elementary buddy journals, leadership retreats, Easter care packages for the Stollery Children's Center as well as many other worthwhile causes. Meeting every Monday in the Scona Room, students were able to pick which projects and activities they wished to participate in, allowing everyone a chance to get involved. While undertaking a number of worthy goals through the school year, Scona Pride has continued to encourage all students.

Remedy

This year Remedy developed a group where anyone was free to come and present questions and comments for discussion about life, God, and all the deeper areas that people wonder about. Along with this they gave away Coca-Cola, listened to inspiring guest speakers, co-organized a fundraiser for children in Bolivia and hosted a formal discussion forum called 'Ask The Pastor'. They have also picked up garbage outside the school, given away hot chocolate, and done whatever else they thought they could do to show Scona the real Remedy.

LIP

Every year comes a new LIP – with new editors, new writers, but always with the same tradition of excellence. With the diligence of our two senior editors this year, Jenny Woo and Sarah Rankin, as well as the efforts from the editors of the various sections, the LIP put out another awesome two issues this year, as well as a free press tabloid issue. Of course, nothing would even happen without the talented submissions from the student body. Whether it was cartoons, pilot jokes or fiction – and one can't forget the horoscopes – all the different things showed the different facets of Scona's talented students.

Amnesty International

Mahatma Ghandi once said "You must be the change you wish to see in the world." In Strathcona Composite High School, the students of Amnesty International are initiating the change. Amnesty International is an international NGO dedicated to pursuing the fight for human rights in countries like Uganda and the United Kingdom. This year Amnesty students launched a letter campaign to draw awareness to the harsh reality of child soldiers. Over 800 letters were sent to Uganda, Canada and the United Kingdom in a call for international recognition of the rights of the child. The campaign included a well-informed speaker from Amnesty International Edmonton, as well as a bake sale and tons of information.

Following tradition, amnesty International took part in the vastly popular International Week in March. Learning about other cultures through food, music and dance was an enormous success. The Food Fair was packed with international delicacies, while the Amnesty coffee house featured live music, fair trade coffee and hot chocolate, and Scona's own Mr. Hernandez giving a talk on the importance of human rights.

To wrap up a fantastic year, Amnesty International organized a smashing Awareness Week addressing such issues as Child Labor, Animal Rights and Economic Disparity. Hundreds of people showed up for free veggie burgers, information, live music and more in order to show their support.

From letters to live music, free trade coffee to freedom, the Amnesty International group have been changing the world one step at a time. After all, think globally, act locally!

Speech & Debate

The Speech and Debate team, led by Miss Clarke, Ms. Selk, and Ms. Filan, had a great year! The team participated in a variety of debates, including an impromptu debate, parliamentary style tournaments, cross-examination debates, and a mock trial. During the mock trial, debaters acted as lawyers and witnesses, trying to prove the accused guilty one round, and innocent the next. During the year, both Strathcona junior and senior debaters received a silver medal at the Regional tournament. The Speakers performed in the Local, Regional, and Provincial speech tournaments and participated in events including Original Oratory, acting, and reciting poetry and prose. Scona Speakers picked up numerous medals, including gold in Duet Acting and silver in Poetry at Provincials. The team also earned second place in two categories at the Regional tournament.

Sign Club

In the sign club, we exposed eager students to the basics of American Sign Language (ASL). The alphabet, numbers, feelings, colors, animals, sports, foods and simple phrases were many of our topics. We had fun indoors and out discussing our environment led by Jan McCarthy, our "student" teacher, a grade 10 student here at Scona. Jan's first language is ASL and he looks forward to sharing his language in the years to come.

Mr. R. E. Anderson

At the end of this school year I will be retiring. Twenty-five years of my thirty-six year career has been spent at Strathcona - the last 15 as Principal. How do you say farewell to being part of such a special school with so many outstanding student and staff achievements and such an exceptional level of school pride and school spirit? The answer, of course, is that you don't. Once you are part of Strathcona you will always be part of Strathcona. I want to wish all students and staff continued success. I know that Scona will continue to be a jewel in the Edmonton Public School District's crown.

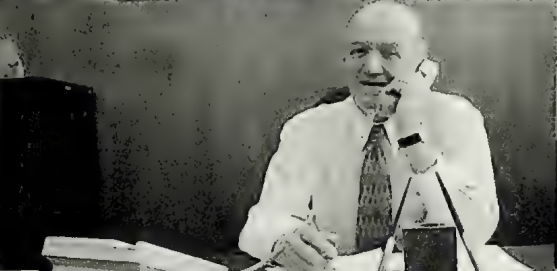

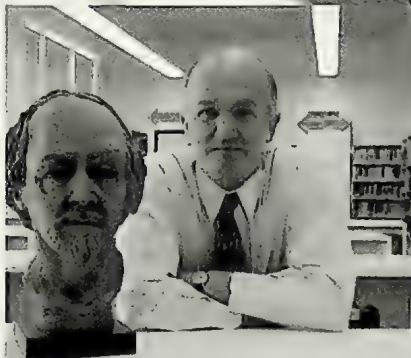

Rick Anderson,

Principal

The students of Strathcona extend a message of gratitude and appreciation to Mr. Rick Anderson for his years as principal, making Scona a pleasurable place to learn. We appreciate his words of wisdom over the intercom, when his voice extended across to school to congratulate students and teachers on successes in athletics and academics. We also thank him for gracing us with his presence at school events, welcoming the grade tens so warmly during welcome week and sharing his inspirational words to the graduating class at commencements. Not to mention his playful participation in the grad video, reminding the grads, and I quote, "Your future's so bright, I gotta wear shades." But all this isn't all that Mr. Anderson did - and recognition is also in order for the time he spent in his office, the unappreciated hours of paperwork and duties necessary to make the school run smoothly. From paying the teachers to making sure there was books to learn from and desks to sit in, we thank you from the bottom of our hearts!

Putting on the Ritz

Putting on the Ritz...need we say more? This is the day that provides students with the perfect opportunity to dress-up, and exude tremendous class and style! (Not that Scona students are lacking in this department.) On this day, one might feel as is they are going to the ball or a big gala! Once again, our fellow students did not disappoint, and many exuded great courage, effort, and participation. Way to go, stunning, Strathcona students!!!

Ski Trip

Another year, another ski trip. After a grueling week of midterms, the ski trip was the perfect cure for everyone's stress. Visions of schoolwork quickly faded in the beautiful mountain air as four busloads of lucky Lords rolled up to their much awaited destination - Fernie. The food was tasty, the rooms were nice, and the only complaints were directed at Mother Nature.

With the nice weather came the icy slopes and minor injuries. But scrapes and cuts aside there were plenty of laughs and good times to go around. Upon return, the general consensus was that the weekend was another success and a great time was had by all. Much appreciation goes out to those dedicated teachers who made it happen. Go Fernie!

Whyte Avenue Fire

A part of our community died this spring. On March 13, 2003, a fire reduced to rubble eight Old Strathcona businesses including Albert's Family Restaurant, Scales and Tails, New York Bagel, and Carol's Quality Sweets. As bleary-eyed Scona students made their way to school the next morning, the still-smoking site of these deep-rooted businesses stood out sharply amid the familiar Whyte Ave. scene. Weeks passed before the gaping hole on the corner seemed "normal". Almost immediately after the fire, members of the community seemed to be bursting with stories about the quiet businesses on the corner of 103rd Street. Elderly patrons of Albert's recalled their trips to the restaurant as children; customers at Scales and Tails reminisced about the friendly atmosphere of the store and expressed their sympathy for the animals lost in the fire; indulgers at Carol's Quality Sweets sadly accepted the demise of the heavenly smelling candy shop that had lured them since their youth. The community rallied around the businesses in the few weeks following the fire—the Old Strathcona Business Association established an "Old Strathcona Fire Relief Fund" to help all of the victims. To be sure, the fire on Whyte Avenue did not parallel the world events of this year, but it was nevertheless a blow for the Strathcona community. And while it is doubtful that everybody cried over the loss of the eight businesses, it is equally unlikely that anyone who knew the area failed to feel a pang of regret at losing a portion, however small, of Edmonton's history.

Travel

Canal rides down the majestic water passages of Amsterdam, meeting the Mona Lisa in Paris, waffles and whipped cream in Belgium, and Bratwurst in Cologne. Does it not sound like paradise? Right from clog factories to cathedrals, the 37 students traveled this year's student languages trip to Europe in unison. Revelations came from being in the exact spot of Marie Antoinette's beheading, Anne Frank's bedroom, greeting the Venus de Milo eye to eye, and of course, seeing the rolling European countryside from the bus window for eight hour periods. Not only did these students have an opportunity to see the world, they also were able to understand the beauty of it.

After an exhausting twenty-four-hour flight, Scona's travel club arrived in hot, humid, colorful Brazil. The group experienced Brazilian culture firsthand by tasting exotic fruit-flavored ice cream, shopping in the trendy stores of Rio de Janeiro, tanning on Copacabana beach, hiking through the national park in the center of Rio, and even attending a soccer match, complete with mad Brazilian fans. Now aren't you all jealous you spent Spring Break in chilly Edmonton?

Oilers

Hockey playoffs are always a sure sign that spring has come. Once again the Oilers managed to squeak in at eighth place to face off against none other than the Dallas Stars. With the Oilers come their fans that continue to be there for every moment everywhere. In schools, students and teachers wear the Oilers colours proudly. On the streets, blasts of horns are heard and flags are waved enthusiastically. Naturally, every enthused fan brings painted faces and noisemakers.

Although the Oilers had tons of encouragement, from their fans, they were not able to stay in the post-season. However next year, hockey will be sure to dominate the minds and cheers of all Edmontonians.

Blood Donor Clinic

The Scona halls were filled with students wearing arm bandages and "Blood Donor" stickers during the SU-organized Blood Donor Clinic on April 23.

The clinic took place in the small gym, where nervous-looking students and staff filled out the questionnaires, sat through the blood tests and questioning sessions, and finally got to donate blood. Helpful and enthusiastic volunteers and nurse buzzed around the gym, insuring the comfort of every donor.

Despite some worried faces during the clinic, by afternoon everyone was smiling. By giving a little bit of themselves, Scona's students and staff had met the donor challenge. 90 units of blood were collected, an amount that has the potential to save up to 360 lives! Congratulations to Scona for doing a bloody good job!!

"What have we done with innocence, it disappeared with time and never made much sense"-Foo Fighters Thanx 2 everyone- Scona boyz, the original 6, my scona girls, and all the other messes-4 making high school so memorable. Thanx especially to Matt Haupt. Neva 4get camping, ski trips, cabins, parties, new yrs, all nighters, houseboats, hackin' jamones and gettin' hamboned. "I'm still partying" -Chris Shmidt

Appelt, Sheena

Thanks to my family and friends for all of their help, support, and guidance. You stuck with me through all of my stressouts and were always there to remind me of the importance of enjoying life. To the Track team for providing me with that enjoyment, stress relief, and incredible experiences. To the highs and lows we so happily or painfully lived through. But most importantly the unforgettable memories. All the best.

Agustin, Jason

After three years things are coming to an end. Hi to everyone, it's been a lot of fun. Good luck and have fun after high school. Anyways, see you all later.

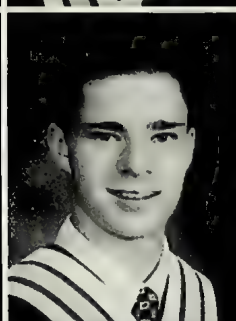

Ashmore, Jessica

Wow high school's come and gone and now it's off to the real world. High school's been the most memorable three years of my life and I would like to thank everyone who made it what it is. Here's to my friends and family for all their encouragement. Remember always live life to the fullest and never settle for less than your best! I wish you all the best of luck in all your future endeavors.

Anlisch, Jennifer

3 Years: we're outta here. Forest Heights always was the better bunch. Here's to "chem 30", hanging in the park and walking to Whyte. Camping and Aliens in St. Albert = good times. Ladies: MS, GT, MN, VS, AL don't forget "I was late and we had a sub" Remember it all when you're making $'s or living in a cardboard box. They always say let it be good to go away someday - well it is here; make it good!! "You can call me Betty" Check you later

Badder, Sandy

Scona was a rollercoaster ride and I'm glad it's over. Props to the crew who made Scona somewhat worthwhile. Special thanks to MAC G and Larri the best staff Scona has to offer. Keep your mind on your money and roll through school as the years pass by you can show them fools. -Tupac This quote goes out to the McKernan boys.

Anderson, Craig

Baic, Branka

FIRST, I would like to thank my family for all their support and love. 2 everyone I have met over the past 3 yrs, u guys know who u are! Thx 4 all the laughs, it's definitely been a blast! To Danica it's been 6 yrs, we've stuck it through and I love ya to bits! To my Sanja: Thank u for ur friendship and understanding. I love u guys so very much! Thank u 2 all my great teachers! I KNOW I'm loud! Thx Scona, I've learned a lot. <3

Andrews, Holly

"Shared joy is double joy, shared sorrow is half sorrow." - Swedish proverb. Thanks to all my friends for making the good times great and the less-than-hot ones a little better. Here's to road trips, rubber parks, parties, liftys, those hiking boots of death, late nights, lazy days, and Icewench! Good luck to everyone, it's over Jess! -I had so much fun with my neighborhood crew, all my buddies that I went to school wit my whole life from the "hoods." My T.D. Baker Boys. To all the good times

Baker, Dora

For me, High School was full of can't-stand-up laughing, karaoke singing, stressful studying, endless supporting, powerful praying, advising, flustering/eyes hurting, indoor and outdoor running, floosey complaining, "wood hood'ing and lots of "just kidding's. Thanks to everyone who has been a part of my life. I'll never forget

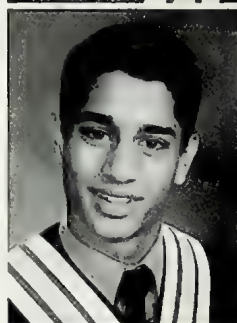

Belyea, Jessica

Firstly, I would like to thank my family for all the love and support. I could not have come this far without you! Next, a big hug to Manka. SO many memories! Finally, to Steve: Thank you for always being there for me! I love you! To my buddy SB-see u soon! And to BB-u are crazy! Love ya!

All good things must come to an end. What can I say? These past few years have been the best times of my life; good times had by everybody. Thanks to all my friends for making high school the most memorable time of my life. You know who you are. I know you will still be my friends 20 years down the road. For the rest of you, see you on the houseboat! Stay out of trouble. Have a nice life. -BREXX

Brese, Steven

Well it has been a great three years. Thanks to my friends for being so good and to my parents for always supporting me through everything and most importantly God for being the reason I wake up every morning. Remember there is always room for cake. Dream of life-BS. DEAL!

Bruher, James

When reflecting upon the reality of a situation, one realizes how surreal it really isn't. The realization of a goal comes from work and perseverance. Such is the case with grad, which will hopefully pale in comparison to bigger & better things this years grad will go on to accomplish. Not to take anything away from my benefactors...I would like to thank my family, friends, & all those that don't but feel they deserved it.

Time is flying by, now we are walking in to a new chapter in our lives. We should not dwell on things that made our lives hard, they only make us stronger. "I ate the peel" Thank u to my family for all the support and love to all my friends who brought joy o my life and all the memories we have made through the years. I will always cherish each and everyone of u. All the luck to class of 2003. See ya all in the future.

Downer, Evelina

Work like you don't need the money. Dance like nobody's watching. Love like you've never been hurt. Love to all my girlfriends for the memories, TONIC nights, overeating, overspending and hangovers! Good luck to everyone next in the future, live to be happy.

W3rd high school is finally done!! Time to leave the bathroom and go out into the world. Special thanks to all my friends who made the time here pass a little bit faster. And thanks Steve for testing out the comfort of the lockers for us. A big hello to Manda for being with me through the whole thing. But now were done and just have all the memories of the time. BLAH BLAH BLAH BLAH. And chairs apparently are fire hazards

Foshaug, Rylee

Perhaps the most valuable result of all education is the ability to make yourself do the things you have to do, when it ought to be done, whether you like it or not; it is the first lesson that ought to be learned, and however early a man's training begins, it is probably the last lesson he learns thoroughly. -Thomas H Huxley.

Galloway, Marla

High school Those two words describe the chaotic, traumatic time. It was a time to be the wise man's fool and the fool's wise man. It was a time consisting of about three years of our lives, with countless spent dollars blown away. As grade 12 draws to a close, we are faced with the end of the apparent "best years of our lives." No matter where we go from here, we'll always have the memories of friends, experiences and the insanity that was high school. Thanks to my parents for the eternal support, friends who have stuck through thick and thin, Katie (for everything), and everyone else who made high school what it was. Life is what you make it.

Grewal, Kassia

I've had so much fun these past three years thanks to all my friends. Hanging out at lunch and being in awesome Drama classes were the best. I had lots of great experiences like running for Su and joining the swim team. I'd like to say hey to all my AP pals because having good friends to talk to made class a whole lot better. Keep smiling you guys! I wish you all the best.

Grey, Jody

I will always remember the good old days of high school...actually, I won't so I hope when I am old and grey these random comments will remind me. Where's my basketball? Red and blue makes purple and Yes Amada, you CAN make green! You suck like lemons Jackie. Dutch Blitz; guard your wood pile! Life size rock paper scissors! Roadkill?! Tackle tobogganing! Banana surfing! And don't forget to VOTE 4 BILL!

Hamilton, Jill

Somewhere between the kong kicking competitions, the George Foreman Cookoffs and the Subway sandwich innating, High School has flown by. Heres to MEXICO madness, hot tub hypo and RODEO! Shoutout to Duece Duece, Mom & Pops. Much luv. Thanx to everyone who got me here. Just yesterday I didn't think I'd make it. Wow I'm here. I also want to thank all the seniors for getting me in trouble and making my high school years fun. But my senior year sucked. This ride has been fun but its about to get a whole lot funner. Peace!

Ree, Erin

First, thanx to my mom and dad for giving me all need. To Dani and Chris 4 absolutely everything. Dan and Nils my brothers from other mothers. Natalie thanx for keeping me under your wing. Jeff you know what you mean to me. To running all day in the sun. To leaving this place behind. I'm gonna miss this giant bathroom one day

How can I summarize something so stimulating, mindnumbing and bizarre in a mere 420 characters? It was the best of times and the worst of times-the best due to the unbeatable company kept, and the worst due to the 7-hour study sessions. Thanks so much to my loving family and friends for both my sanity and life, I love you entirely. All we must do is believe in ourselves to know that this will one day be a better world.

Valedictorian: Patrick Miller

Good evening ladies and gentlemen.

It is a great honor to speak to you tonight on behalf of my fellow graduates. I think I speak for the entire graduating class when I say it's been a long twelve years. We've reached a turning point in our lives where we are now considered to be adults. For the first time we get to step out into the real world and see what it's really like. Our lives will start to change dramatically over the next few months. Some of us will be heading to post-secondary education; some will be joining the workforce, and others will travel. In high school, there are very few complications to separate us from our friends, but once we leave, there will be many new commitments that can weaken the bonds of friendship. Some of us will remain friends, possibly become even closer friends and some of us will never see each other again. But no matter where we go or who we meet, one thing is for sure: some of the best times of our lives will have taken place at Scona. If you haven't figured it out yet, the theme of my message this evening is change. Like it or not, we are entering a rapidly changing world that constantly throws out new ideas and technology. We are a generation that will have to continually adapt to the world around us and we must not be afraid to try new things. Hopefully, unlike our parents, it won't take us hours to program a VCR or set up a new computer. I mean, who really needs to read the entire instruction manual before turning on the power? Think of the things that have changed since we arrived at Scona three years ago as young and innocent grade tens. We've gone from kids who got lost in the hallways to young adults who get lost driving our cars. Our view of terrorism has changed – terrorism used to occur somewhere else and never seemed real and then September eleventh took place and terrorism was brought much closer to home. And speaking of real – what about reality TV? Who would have thought, three years ago, that many of us would sit in front of our TVs every Thursday night to find out who would be voted off of Survivor? Who could have guessed that bachelors and bachelorettes would find their mates while a TV audience watched or that couples would test their relationships on Temptation Island? We know that change is inevitable – we just don't know what form it will take. Generally, change is a good thing. It provides us with opportunities to learn from our mistakes and improve upon things that don't work well or things that simply bug us. Maybe, in years to come, things will change at Scona besides the students and the teachers. Perhaps, through an act of kindness to those associated with Scona, the green tiles will someday be replaced with a more modern look. Although change is inevitable, there are some things at Scona that I hope will never change. I hope that Scona will continue to have an acceptance of diversity, dominant athletic teams with great coaches to guide them, parents who actively support their children's education, dedicated teachers and staff who are enthusiastic about teaching and learning and aren't afraid to tell bad jokes - right Mr. Wallace? - and finally, I hope that Scona will continue to have great students who take pride in Scona's tradition of excellence and who walk around the crest as they come in the front door. Change will be a huge part of our future. Embrace it. Welcome it. Don't be afraid of it. But at the same time, don't accept change for change's sake. Recognize tradition and the importance of what others have established before us. Treasure your memories of all the things that have happened over the past three years. In closing, I would like to wish the best of luck to my classmates. I ask you to remember the words of John F. Kennedy: "Change is the law of life. And those who look only to the past or the present are certain to miss the future." Thank you and good night.

The Graduation Song of 2003

Scared

*Written and Performed by:
Ben Taylor, Nathan McClaflin, and Matteo Zenari.*

Here we stand,
On that long awaited, open road.
I understand,
Why you're strugglin' to go on.
Don't know where you'll go to,
No idea what you're gonna do,
Too much stuff to go through,
How can we move on with no clue?

(Chorus)
You're not alone-I feel the same.
We've got each other, and that'll never change.
I know you're scared, but it's alright.
'Cause I'm standing right by your side.

Why be so scared?
This is supposed to be our day.
Take one more step and suddenly,
You're on your way.

Did he really mean to say that?
Can you afford your own flat?
Can't tell lies from true fact.
And will you ever come back.

(Chorus)

We're at the mercy of fate.
How come we still hesitate?
Don't tell me that it's too late.
Just relax, for God's sake.

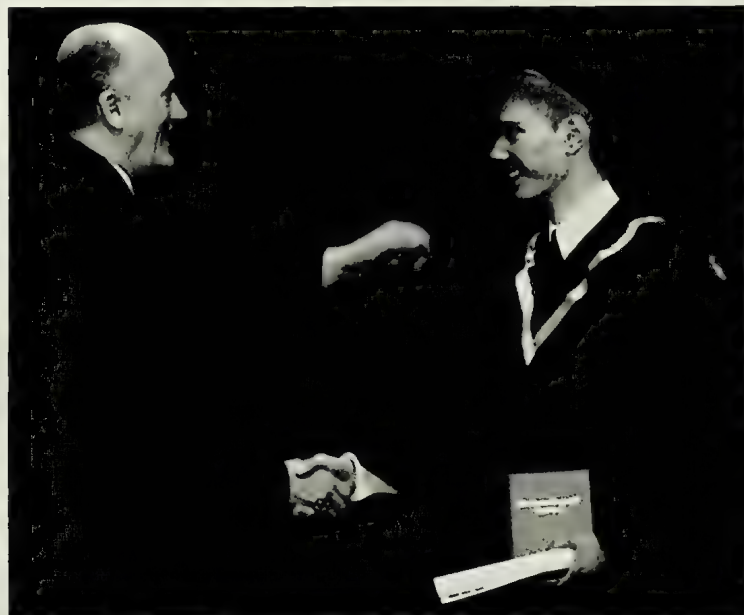

(Chorus)

Commencement

As the notes of "Pomp and Circumstance" filled the Jubilee Auditorium, it signaled the beginning of another commencement. The night was full of stirring speeches such as Pat Miller's Valedictorian address, and the ones given by Principal Rick Anderson, trustee Don Fleming, and key note speaker Mark Ewanchuk. No one will forget Amy Ulveland's performance of "Flashdance", or the beautiful Grad song by Ben Taylor, Matteo Zenari and Nathan McClafflin. The ceremony itself was amazing, as one by one the seniors received their diplomas and, with the flip of a tassel, became people ready to be unleashed upon the challenges of the real world. And as the final words were spoken and the caps tossed, the senior class became the newest upholders of this beautiful Scona tradition.

Banquet

The night of banquet is perhaps the most memorable and enjoyable ceremony! Along with family and friends, the graduates are treated to an evening of reflection and true celebration! Everybody was looking their absolute best and an overwhelming feeling of pride and closure was very much in the air. The program held at the beautifully decorated Shaw Conference Centre entailed a delicious meal, inspiring speeches, incredible talent, and an upbeat dance to end off the night. Thanks to the hard work and dedication of the graduation committee, students and the guests, all of us together had the pleasure of experiencing a spectacular evening.

A Day in the Life of a Scona Lord

The alarm clock's monotonous buzzing can only mean one thing, the very thing that every teenager dreads: the beginning of another school day. From off of a crowded bus, Scona students arrive at school in time for a new bell and the start of class. Math, Social and English classes fill with the eager young hooligans. Chatter fills the air - rumors of parties and panic-stricken students begging for answers to forgotten homework. Above the chatter, well-intentioned teachers can be heard preaching lessons on nuclear fission and reoccurring motifs in Macbeth. The busy morning of learning is interrupted with the long awaited lunch hour, where hungry hoodlums raise their ruckus at Seven Eleven, Tokyo Express or Scona's own cafeteria, filling their faces in those short minutes before a full afternoon of learning commences. By the time the fourth block ends, students are all too eager to embrace the 3:15 bell and pile back onto the crowded buses before commencing the grueling task of tackling the growing pile of homework. Ah, another exhilarating day in the life of a Lord.

Personalities 2003

One thing that Strathcona has always had in abundance is people. Every year, amid the sea of students that wander the halls, there are certain faces that just seem to stand out. Whether the people are dedicated to the pursuit of excellence in academics, or dominance in athletics, Scona can be proud to boast of such an eclectic cast of characters. These people, who personify the many facets of the students of Scona, are a very important asset to life within the school. And whether most likely to make headlines, or just simply outrageous, these unique individuals deserve to be recognized for their achievements, and for what they have brought to this school.
